

Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors of Washington State

Owner's Event and General Membership Meeting October 27-29, 2006

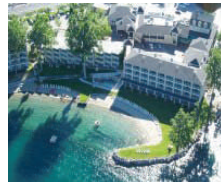

This year we have brought our general membership meeting together with the owner's event. We have sent out notices along the information on reserving your room at the beautiful Campbell's Resort in Lake Chelan.

I would like to give a special thank you to the people helping bring this together.
John Lynn-Event Committee Chair
Kathy Thaut-Bylaw Committee Chair
Leslie Lemm-Event Committee Help

On Friday October 27th all PHCCWA members will arrive at Campbell's Resort and enjoy the nice quiet evening away from the office and home.

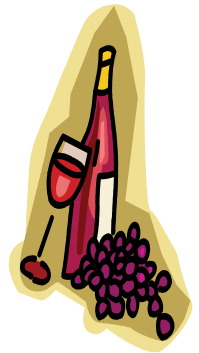

Saturday afternoon all PHCCWA members that wish to participate will board a shuttle over to the Tsillian Cellars for an afternoon of wine tasting and a tour around the winery. We will all then head back to the resort for a delicious buffet dinner with all the PHCCWA members. When we finish up our meal, we will begin the 2006 General Membership Meeting. Immediately after the meeting Leslie Lemm, will be hosting a hospitality suite for PHCCWA members. Sponsored by Superior Cleaning and Restoration.

Sunday morning everyone will gather together for a mouth-watering breakfast before we head back home to begin another week.

S a y y o u ' l l j o i n u s f o r t h i s f u n a n d r e l a x i n g w e e k - e n d .
Y o u d e - s e r v e i t !

Information about Lake Chelan

Things To Do

- Boating
- Fishing
- Golfing
- Hiking
- Biking
- Rafting
- Wineries
- Music and Arts

For more information on Lake Chelan go to www.cometothelake.com.

The Lake Chelan Valley sits centrally in Washington State nestled in the North Cascades National Forest encompassing the communities of Chelan, Manson, & Stehekin. This pristine, 50.5 mile glacier fed lake's widest width is one and a half miles, and the deepest depth is 1541 ft. The population of the valley consists of 10,000 year round residents and several hundred more part-time residents.

Roads extend less than halfway to the headwaters of Lake Chelan. Beyond the end of the road, rugged snowcapped peaks rise over 7,000 feet from the lakeshore and dark evergreens cover the mountainsides. Deep valleys rise from the lake to massive glaciers in the heart of the North Cascades. At the upper end of Lake Chelan, limited, local roads do not connect the communities of Stehekin and Holden Village to the outside world.

This remoteness and the spectacular setting have inspired Federal protection for much of the region. Portions of a National Park, two National Forest Wilderness Areas, and a National Recreation Area encompass much of the Chelan drainage. From the apple orchards down lake to the alpine firs and glaciers of the Cascade Crest, the Lake Chelan area offers an unparalleled variety of scenic and recreational experiences. Enjoy discovering for yourself the rich history and special features of this unique region